Loral Wright has been a member of the Health Strategies Group's "external" production team for over six years. During this time, she has been an indispensable team member on group projects, as well as successfully completing independent projects.

Loral has developed methods and added to her skills to meet the tight deadlines and volume challenges of seasonal projects. She continuously meets our production standards and works within specific parameters for all jobs. She is committed to seeing projects through to absolute satisfaction.

Loral is enthusiastically helpful and always reliable and responsive.
